Affairs in France.

Published every Thursday morning at Peter's Block, Ellsworth, Me., by N. K. SAWYER.

It is reported that the insurrection is completely suppressed. The French capital has been completely restored to its former state. There are upwards of 50,000 dead bodies in the houses and cellars of Paris. Many of them are those of the insurgents who were killed during the recent fighting. In the French capital executions of the insurgents are constant. Destruction of property is terrible, and one-fourth of Paris is estimated to have been destroyed.

The insurgents, Saturday, shot the Archbishop of Paris, Abbé Dugué, and sixty-two other hostages remaining in their possession. The troops had previously captured La Fayette, and had taken possession of the city. The body of Desolles has been found in the street and identified.

Sunday evening all was quiet within the city. Not a shot had been fired since 10 o'clock Sunday morning. The Prussians at Rouenville made a thousand prisoners, including several armed women, on Saturday evening. All the insurgents who come within their lines are disarmed and placed under guard. The Prussians are entering the city. There is great rejoicing within and without the city over the termination of the reign of terror.

There is a desire to have representatives of France in foreign countries, very properly says the acts of the insurgents are of a criminal and not political nature. He therefore desires them to request the neighboring nations to extradite those who may enter their territories and says the government of Spain already proposes to do so.

Parisians—A Bloods Expulsion—All the Officials of the Commune Executed.

PARIS, May 29.—The fighting at Belleville, Montmartre and Pere la Chaise has been going on for some time. The military law has been established in the city and executions are proceeding at the Champ de Mars. Park to Montmartre and Hotel de Ville. From 50 to 100 insurgents are shot at a time.

No one is permitted to leave Paris without a passport given by McMahon.

The troops frequent incendiary fires have caused all cellar gratings and other openings to be sealed.

Among the hostages shot by the insurgents were the Abbess Sura and Desmery, the Jesuit Father Delvain, Carbot and the Abbé Allard and twenty others.

Three thousand prisoners arrived here yesterday.

The disarmament of the National Guards is proceeding and multitudes of people have been arrested.

The population of Paris are enthusiastic over their deliverance.

Nearly every member of the Commune was shot or executed immediately after capture.

The Western and Orleans Railway lines were opened to-day to goods traffic. Provisions are scarce and the markets quiet.

The Treaty in Canada.

MONTREAL, Canada, May 29.

The witness says "our Canadian Executive is going to exercise the same privilege as the Queen's Executive, ratifying the Treaty without asking the consent of Parliament. This will be presumable, be final as far as regards fisheries, but legislation may be required to open ports to mention fishing, or to the jurisdiction of the sea or her good fishing, or redding, which all did so excellently.

Edward B. Roloff.

Who was hung at Binghamton, New York, week last, was a hardened criminal of the worst type, and deserved hanging if any one did. Some twenty-five years ago he was indicted for the murder of a young wife and innocent infant child, but while the circumstantial evidence was conclusive in the mind of the public of his guilt, he was acquitted because no forensic evidence of the dead could be produced. Afterwards, with new evidence, he was a second time put on trial, convicted and sentenced to hang; but while lying in jail waiting execution, he corrupted the jailor's son, and through him effected his escape. Forming a partnership with his deliverer, he perpetrated a long series of burglaries and thefts. With Jarvis, the jailor's son, and another, he broke into a store in Binghamton, the clerk who slept in the store aroused, struggled with the burglars, and then Roloff drew a pistol and shot the clerk dead. The two accomplices of Roloff, in making their retreat lost their way and falling into the river were drowned. Roloff was captured, convicted, and hung. We have made this brief history of a noted criminal, that we may ask our readers, if all such characters should not meet a like fate, if captured?

This Roloff was an educated man, had studied law and medicine, had a knowledge of Greek and Latin, and was a well-to-do man. Young Jarvis, the jailor's son, was enticed to evil deeds by him, and he led the life of a criminal, until his death by drowning. What hope is there of such a character, or what safety in society, even while he is in prison. He might find some other yielding mind to corrupt and make another escape to crime, and then he would be a more dangerous man than ever. Up to 8 o'clock this morning 24 men had been brought to the spot, six of whom were dead. A Fatal Accident on the M. C. R. R.

Monday afternoon, as conductor Rodger's train approached North Belgrade, the engine left the track. The tender and first box car were crushed over the wheels, and the second box car telescoped, the engine being completely smashed, and carrying off the lighter work of the engine. The engineer, Robert Austin, and the fireman, Eugene Gulliver, were buried in the ruins. Austin was confined by his left leg between the first box car and a rafter of the engine, and before he could be released, the engine was crushed by the wheels of the lower part of his body were crushed into a shapeless mass. He lived an hour, being perfectly conscious all the time, giving directions how to release him before he was cleared from the wreck. He leaves a wife and two children at Waterville.

The accident was caused by the expansion of the rails by the intense heat. It occurred in a cut in the woods, where not a breath of air was stirring.

A Coroner's inquest was to be held Tuesday forenoon.

The afternoon train for Bangor was delayed about three-quarters of an hour, the passengers and baggage being transferred to another train.
